

The Wire China

This is a preliminary and incomplete list of officials who might engage with China. It does not include, for the most part, civil servants. The color coding is based on public writings and statements about China. Also, the positioning of officials does not always show who a person reports to directly.